New chef de cuisine at Parker Palm Springs

Palm Springs, CA, May 3, 2022: Parker Palm Springs welcomes Keith Miller as the new chef de cuisine at the exceptional desert resort. Chef Miller brings his Michelin-star restaurant experience to his role, where his commitment to creative dining will flourish.

Chef Miller joins Parker Palm Springs from San Francisco's acclaimed Atelier Crenn. Prior to this celebrated dining destination, he worked at both the esteemed Fiola and the Mandarin Oriental Hotel in Washington DC. Originally from Chicago, he had his start in the culinary arts in a range of vibrant restaurants including the Michelin-starred Alinea.

When Chef Miller first visited Parker Palm Springs, he was struck by the beauty of the property. "It's magical — 13-acres of landscaped oasis in the desert," he says. He will focus specifically on two dining venues, Counter Reformation and mister parker's.

At mister parker's, Chef Miller was impressed by the ambiance the moment he entered. "The room, the design, the artwork, the interiors by Jonathan Adler — it is seductive, and the food will be too. It is a one-of-a-kind space that delivers a one-of-a-kind dining experience."

At Counter Reformation, he is looking forward to creating an intimate dining experience. "I want to ensure an elevated connection between guests and their food, and with their server and chef." He plans to capture the opportunities presented by the vibrant local producers to create a rotating menu inspired by the seasons.

Brandon McCurley, Managing Director says, "We have been seeking the right person to lead the culinary evolution at mister parker's and Counter Reformation. We look forward to seeing Chef Miller's background at Michelin-star restaurants come to life at Parker Palm Springs."

Chef Miller is excited to see how the fine dining and service experience can grow at Parker Palm Springs. "I want to push boundaries with the local cuisine." You can taste his work today at Counter Reformation and at mister parker's when it reopens in September 2022.

Parker Palm Springs is an exclusive destination with just 144 rooms on a private, 13-acre resort.
